GRAND DUKE

Transferred by His Cousin,
The Czar, to Command
In the Caucasus

CHANGE CONSIDERED A SLIGHT

Emperor By His Act Supplants the Duke

POST IS NOT IMPORTANT

Compared With the Vast Powers and Prestige of His Former Office As Commander-In-Chief of
All of Russia's Colossal Fighting Forces—Czar is Confident of Victory.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Petrograd, Sept. 8.—Via London.
—Grand Duke Nicholas has been transferred to the Caucasus by Emperor Nicholas.

The emperor took this action on assuming command of the military army and naval forces of Russia.

In transferring the grand duke, he appointed him viceroy of the cauc-sus, and commander-in-chief of the army in the southern front.

The transfer was made in connection with a general reorganization of such importance that it has stirred the nation deeply.

The grand duke replaces the famous viceroy of the Caucasus, Count von Vorontzoff-Dashkoff. Emperor Nicholas addressed to the count a communication acknowledging the value of his labors and stating that he "yields to his request to be permitted to devote his energies to work for which his state of health is more equal."

The emperor therefore relieves him of the post of viceroy and attaches him to his personal staff.

In relieving the grand duke, the emperor addressed a communication to him which read:

"At the beginning of the war I was unavoidably prevented from following the inclination of my soul to put myself at the head of the army.
That was why I entrusted you with the command in chief of all the land and sea forces.

"Under the eyes of all Russia, your imperial highness has given proof during the war of a steadfast bravery which has caused a feeling of profound confidence and called forth the sincere good wishes of all who followed your operations through the inevitable vicissitudes of war.

"Duty to my country which has been entrusted to me by God, impels me today, when the enemy has penetrated into the interior of the empire to take supreme command of the active forces and to share with the army the fatigue of war and to guard with it Russian soil from attempt of the enemy. All ways of providence are inscrutable, but my duty and my desire determine me in my resolution for the good of the state.

"The invasion of the enemy on the western front which necessitates the greatest possible concentration of civil and military authorities as well as the unification of command in the field, has turned our attention from the southern front. At this moment I recognize the necessity of your assistance, and I appoint you viceroy of the Caucasus and commander-in-chief of the valiant Caucasian army.

"I express to your imperial highness my profound gratitude and that of the country for your labors during the war."

The action of Emperor Nicholas in transferring his cousin, the Grand Duke, to the Caucasian front, is perhaps the most important change of this nature which has been made by any of the belligerent nations. The only comparable incident was the retirement by Emperor William, in October of last year, of Lieutenant General Count Helmuth von Moltke as chief of the German general staff.

The post to which Grand Duke Nicholas has been transferred is of relative unimportance, as compared with the prestige and vast powers of his former office as commander-in-chief of all Russia's great fighting forces.
The Caucasian campaign presents only a minor aspect of the war. The Russian and Turkish forces involved in the struggle in the Black Sea region are not large.

Although there has been heavy fighting in the Caucasus earlier in the war, hostilities have been conducted in only a perfunctory manner for several months as both of the nations involved had need of all available forces in other quarters.

Distance of a Saloon From a School Must Be Fixed In Direct Line

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, Sept. 8.—In a ruling to the state liquor license commission, Attorney General Turner today explained how to measure the distance that a saloon must be located away from a school under the Greenlund liquor license law after August 1.
The law says that the saloon must be 200 feet distance from the school premises and 300 feet from the nearest corner of the school building.
The attorney general says that these distances must be measured in a straight line. The saloon must not come nearer than those distances from the school, no matter whether it is in the front, side or rear of the school.

County boards have been sending in requests for enlightenment on the method of figuring the distances since the filing of a referendum on the McDermott liquor law, the effect of which is to continue in effect the law which read:

SCIOTO RIVER ON A RAMPAGE; ONE LIFE LOST

(Associated Press Telegram)
Portsmouth, O., Sept. 8.—Heavy rainfall, which turned streams in this section into torrents, caused one death and much crop damage yesterday and last night.

While attempting to ford Straight creek, near Piketon late yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Margaret Miller was swept away to her death, her body being recovered this noon. The horse she was driving was also drowned.
Crops in this section have been damaged.

The Scioto river at its mouth here has been a raging torrent several days and last night seven sections of the temporary bridge were torn out by the mass of debris. This makes the fifth time since the 1913 flood this bridge has been put out of commission by high water.

LONDON REPORTED SEVERAL STEAMERS SUBMARINE VICTIMS

(Associated Press Telegram)
Yaroches, France, Sept. 8.—The British steamer Garony of Liverpool was fired upon and sunk by a German submarine last night. Her crew was saved.

The attack upon the Garony was made off Cape Baleines, near La-Rochele. The crew was saved by the fishing boat Monreva. The captain of the fishing boat Morse brought the news to this port today.

Maritime records do not contain the name of the Garony.
The Russian steamship Rhea has been sunk. Her crew was landed.
The Rhea, 1,145 tons gross, was owned in Helsingfors. There are no records of her recent movements.

The British steamship Douro has been sunk by gunfire, presumably from a submarine. Her crew was saved.

The Douro 1,603 tons gross, was owned by the Ellerman lines of London. There are no records of her recent movements.

BURGLAR SUSPECT NOT IDENTIFIED
MRS. ARMOUR.
(Associated Press Telegram)
Chicago, Sept. 8.—Mrs. J. Ogden Armour today failed to identify Melville Reeves, known to the police as the "Skyscraper Burglar," as one of the men who robbed her home Monday night. Reeves' resemblance to one of the masked bandits caused his temporary detention.

Greenlund law under which, as a result, licenses for next year will be issued.

If a way can be devised for carrying out the project, the state board of agriculture will hold a winter show at the state fair grounds here next January or February.
President Begg of the board said today that the only obstacle in the way of holding it is the difficulty in getting funds to cover the expense.
If the show is held it will be an exhibition of apples, corn, dairy products and poultry. The intention is to combine the annual shows of these branches of the agricultural industry, making one big exhibit that will promote their interests more effectually than if separate shows were held. In the opinion of some of the board members it is probable that sooner or later such a consolidated show will be made a permanent feature by the board. The project was given consideration by the board at its Wednesday meeting. It will be taken up again.

The reports of the recent state fair receipts show that a total of $48,925 was taken in from the gates and the grandstand. This is a decrease from last year and is due to the fact that no charge was made for bringing in automobiles to the grounds this year and also because of the large number of persons who entered the grounds in the evening when the admission price was but 25 cents.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Sept. 8.—President Wilson went to the state department today and conferred with Secretary Lansing. It was generally understood they discussed the case of Dr.
Dumba, the Austrian ambassador.
The President's action was so unusual that White House and state department employees were slow to realize what had happened. So far as officials could recall, the only precedent for a President going to call on a secretary of state, was recorded when President McKinley went to call on Secretary Day.

The President's call was not arranged in advance. He left his study and passed out of the executive offices through a little used entrance, crossed the avenue which separates the White House grounds from the state, war and navy building and walked up the main stairway unattended while dozes of surprised tourists and employees stopped to look.

It has been customary for the President to summon the secretary to the White House when he wished to confer with him.

President Wilson, however, has departed from that custom a great deal by using the telephone. He has shown it to be his habit, however, to visit other officials when he has something important to talk about, and as was the case of today, he does it without being announced.

Late yesterday Ambassador Dumba conferred at length with Secretary Lansing about the correspondence taken from an American correspondent by British secret service men which disclosed that the Austrian ambassador was concerned in a project to interfere with the operations of American munitions plants. The ambassador explained that his government had instructed him to give widest publicity to a decree making it a criminal offense for any Austro-Hungarian to be concerned in the manufacture of munitions of war for his country's enemies.

So far as was known the ambassador did not disclaim his action nor did he disclaim having reported on the project to his home government in documents which were found on the American correspondent. The state department takes the view that there is no precedent to cover his case, but it regards the use of an American passport for a messenger to one of the belligerent governments as serious.

Secretary Lansing heard all Dr.
Dumba had to say and let it be known that he would present the ambassador's explanation to the President.
It is known that officials regarded Dr. Dumba's statement that he had acted on instructions of his government as making the situation more grave as they previously had assumed that he was acting for himself. After spending fifteen minutes with Secretary Lansing the President started proximately the time thereof, torpedoed the steamship, and if so what justification her commander had for his action, can never be known positively. Germany therefore will be unable to furnish the definite report on the case which is desired by the United States.

The loss of the U-27 has revived discussions of British aggressive tactics against submarines. Newspapers all over the country, in commenting on this case, assume that the U-27 was the victim of an attack such as is reported to have been made on Captain Otto Weddigen's U-29, which was said by the German admiralty to have been sunk by a British steamship flying the Swedish flag.

The theory generally advanced in the case of the U-27 is that it was a victim of an attack by a disguised auxiliary or warship, or was rammed or otherwise destroyed by a merchantman while endeavoring to exercise the right of search.

This discussion is utilized to bring home to the people of Germany the magnitude and bearing of the concession made to the United States in agreeing to give warning before a liner is torpedoed. It is represented that this concession involves danger as long as British tactics are unaltered.

The London version of the sinking of the U-27, to the effect that she was destroyed by a British torpedo-boat while halting a ship, will be communicated to the German press for guidance tomorrow to help dispel the impression that a merchantman was responsible for the loss of the craft.

In editorials on the submarine question there is an absence of animus against the United States.

Unprecedented Visit Of President to Secretary, On Austrian Situation

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Sept. 8.—President

Hesperian Was Not Torpedoed By A German Submarine, Is Belief Of Many Persons In a Position to Know

(Associated Press Telegram)
Berlin, Sept. 8.—Via London.— Persons in a position to speak with authority assert positively the conviction that the steamship Hesperian was not torpedoed by a German submarine; at least, under the conditions thus far described.

The assumption that the Hesperian was sunk by a German submarine is met with ever-increasing doubt in official circles. Although authorized quoted comment is withheld for the time, the positiveness of the opinions expressed informally by individuals who may be assumed to have authoritative information is noteworthy. In these quarters it is believed the Hesperian must have struck a mine, or possibly was destroyed by some agency from within; that it may be regarded as certain she was not torpedoed by a German submarine under the conditions set forth in press dispatches and in accounts given by passengers.

These persons point out that such details given in press reports as the shock of the impact, the column of water thrown up, and the flying fragments of metal may be adapted quite as well to the theory that the Hesperian struck a mine as to the assumption that she was torpedoed.
Moreover, it is said, there is not a single positive indication that a submarine was concerned.

The degree of assurance with which this theory is advanced, seems to be based on knowledge of additional instructions issued to submarine commanders since the Arabic was sunk. Neither diplomatic nor naval officials however, will give any information on this subject.

Now that the U-27 has been given up definitely as lost, an official statement probably will be issued concerning the Arabic setting forth that all submarines which might possibly have been involved have returned with one exception. It has been established that the Arabic was not torpedoed by any of the submarines which have come back to port since that time. Whether the missing boat, which was operating in the vicinity of the Arabic disaster at ap-

one of the missing sailors of the Hesperian was an American citizen.
Thus far Mr. Frost has been unable to verify the report.

Lieutenant Lewis B. McBride, naval attaché of the American embassy is expected to return to London today from Queenstown, whither he went to collect information concerning the sinking of the Hesperian.

He has forwarded no report to Ambassador Page, who therefore,
has transmitted nothing to the state department at Washington concerning the Hesperian's armament except the Frost statement that the vessel mounted a 4.7-inch gun astern.

AMERICAN LIFE
Was Lost When Hesperian Went Down Is Now Established.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Queenstown, Sept. 8.—(2:42 P.
M.)—It has been established that an American named Wolff, was lost on the Hesperian. Wolff signed as an able seaman of the Hesperian's crew. He came from Newark, N. J., and was of Dutch parentage.

The loss of Wolff, the American, is referred to in today's state department dispatches, but officials regarded their information as so inconclusive that they declined to make public the dispatch and let it be known that they did not regard it as final.

If the news dispatches and the official advices finally agree in showing conclusively that an American life has been lost it will not alter the situation until the manner of the Hesperian's destruction has been established.

HAD MOUNTED GUN
Visible to all Who Wished to See It, Says Report.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Queenstown, Sept. 8.—There is absolutely no doubt that a gun was mounted on the Hesperian.
It is understood the gun was visible to all who cared to look at it; no secret was made of its presence.

TOTTERING

WITH INFIRMITIES DUE TO AGE
MEXICAN WAR VETERANS MEET.

Four Are Left to Attend Reunion at Columbus Where They Were Received With Honor.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 8.—Aged, stooped and grizzled, yet not too old to step more briskly to the notes of drum and bugle, a handful of less than 20 surviving Mexican war veterans came here today to attend their last annual reunion.

Many could barely walk without aid, several were blind, but they clearly recalled tales of pitched battles under General Taylor and General Scott with Mexican troops in 1847 and 1848, and earlier border troubles similar to those in Texas now. They mentioned Mexican Presidents Santa Anna, Bravo, Canello, Herrera and Paredes, as Dias, Madero, Huerta, Carranza and Villa are discussed now.

The surviving veterans range in age between 88 and 95 years. Col.
John Conwell, of Cadiz, president of the state association, is 89 years old, and Captain John D. Fisher, of Chillicothe, president of the National Association of Mexican War Veterans, who attended the state reunion, is 90 years of age.

A camp fire and reception will be held in the senate chamber this evening with Columbus patriotic societies in charge. Colonel E. S.
Wilson, Columbus, editor and a civil war veteran, will be toastmaster at a dinner. Governor Willis and Mayor Karb of Columbus are among those who will speak, and the Republican club of Columbus will sing.

The most stirring music of the day came from the Old Guard life and drum corps, which in full uniform welcomed the aged veterans.

Because of the great age of all the Mexican war soldiers, it has been planned to make this reunion the last. Several of the few remaining veterans were not even able to attend this meeting, owing to infirmities.

Disliked Egotism.
"What's the matter with you?" asked his wife.
"I'm feeling lonely," was the reply.
"Don't you like this town?"
"I don't like this earth."
"What's the objection to it?"
"People are too egotistical. If there is anything I hate it's egotism. And when I see things going about confidently and doing things wrong, and diplomats trying all sorts of insincere tricks with complete effrontery, and lawyers seeking applause for arguing on the wrong side of a case, and everybody displaying utter selfishness without a blush, I am forced to the conviction that I am the only consistently moral gentleman on this globe. And it makes me feel lonely."—Exchange.

Ebony.
Ebony of the best quality comes from India, Ceylon and other tropical countries, where it is obtained in logs sometimes fifteen and twenty feet long. The darkness of the wood increases with the age of the tree. It is a very hard wood, and hence it is desirable for furniture making. Its unique color, too, makes it always worthy of notice, and it was combined with ivory by the Greeks to bring out its color.

Armed Express Messengers Guarded Treasure During Night—Sent to J. P. Morgan & Co.

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, Sept. 8.—The third and largest consignment of gold shipped from England to the United States during the last few weeks was placed in the sub-treasury here today after having been guarded all night by police and armed express messengers at the Grand Central Terminal, where it arrived on a special train from Halifax.

The gold, consisting of American and British coin, was reported to be approximately $68,000,000 while securities accompanying the shipment were said to be worth about $14,000,000. The entire consigna-ment was made to J. P. Morgan and company, fiscal agents of the British government.

Members of the Morgan firm said no estimate of the value of the consignment could be made until after the gold had been weighed and counted, and the securities examined.

After the gold had been deposited at the sub-treasury from twenty motor trucks, it was reported that it consisted of 11,650,000 British sovereigns, equivalent to about $56,- 500,000 and $7,550,000 in American Eagles. The British coin, it was said, will be sent to the government assay office to be assayed and smelted down into bullion.

The shipment of gold, placed today in the sub-treasury here amounted to $19,465,000 and not approximately $66,000,000 as reported yesterday from Portland, Me., according to an official announcement made today by J. P. Morgan and company, the consignees. No statement was made officially as to the value of the American securities accompanying the gold, but these were reported to be worth approximately $30,000,000, making the total value of the shipment about $50,- 000,000.

The gold in the shipment consisted of American gold coin to the value of $7,550,000, and 2,390,000 English sovereigns, amounting to approximately $11,615,000. A plausible explanation of the error in announcing the value of the shipment was found in the latter item the total dollar value, apparently being given as pounds. Thus 11,- 615,000 pounds would have a dollar value of about $58,000,000, accounting for the difference.

This, with the shipments sent by Great Britain to Halifax recently on warships and thence transferred by rail to New York, approximately the same $50,000,000 each, makes a total of $150,000,000 which has arrived here by England's account since early in August. This great sum it is believed has all been used in paying for munitions of war and other supplies shipped to England and France from this country.
Whatever the balance due may be,
it was still large enough to send the rate of sterling down again today to $1.62 1-2 at the opening, a loss of half a cent over night. This is 2 1-2 cents below normal and 12 1-2 cents above the low record here for sterling. The down trend has lasted for several days after a rally in prices which sent sterling well on its way to recovery of normal values.

The Anglo-French commission of financiers on the way to New York to arrange for a big credit here was believed today to be nearing American shores.

Hurrying Up.
Melancholy Aunt Clara from the country had the habit of listening to the big clock on the town hall in the village where she was visiting and exclaiming every time it struck:
"Eternity draws one hour nearer." Clarence was very much impressed with that solemn reflection. One day the big clock got out of order. While repairing it the workmen made it strike every few minutes. Clarence heard it with bulging eyes.
"Oh, Aunt Clara," he said excitedly,
"eternity has got a move on today!"

Subway Contracts Expected This Week from Railroads, Solicitor Informs Council

The subway matter will probably take definite shape within a few days, according to a report submitted to the city council last night. This report was submitted to the full membership of the council, which was present at the meeting, by City Solicitor Ralph Norrell who gave the cheering news that the contracts from the railroad companies are expected some time this week. The matter of the subway has been hanging over long enough and all will be glad when the details regarding it are settled.

A report of the law committee was received and filed. They recommend gutter which is in bad condition. Referred to the street committee.

A petition from J. I. Smith and 15 others to gravel Ballard and Ridge avenues, was read and referred to the street committee.

A communication from A. H. Heisey concerning the poor condition of Indiana street was received and on Monday Clerk Woodward was instructed to answer the communication and say that as the paving of Indiana street was being considered, no action would be taken in the matter.

A humorous communication was received from H. C. Richardson concerning the bad condition of the sidewalks in Maple avenue. It was re-

Had Lung Trouble and Expected to Die

The many recoveries brought about by Eckman's Alternative are attracting wide attention. Read about this case:

33 E. 8th, Keyser, W. Va.
"Gentlemen—I was taken sick in November, 1908. I grew steadily worse. Had two consultations. The verdict was the fever had affected my lungs and that my case was hopeless; only gave me two months to live. My physician had tried most all kinds of treatment and none did me any good, so he asked my husband if he objected to him trying a proprietary medicine. I began your Alternative. I was in bed from November 30, 1908, until February 25, 1909, and was thought dying several times. Today I am healthier and stronger than ever." (Abbreviated.)

METHODISTS

OF CENTRAL OHIO HOLDING THE ANNUAL CONFERENCE AT COLUMBUS

Governor Willis Planning Five Weeks' Vacation—Wonderful Automobile Sales in Ohio.

(Special to The Advocate)
Columbus, O., Sept. 8.—Methodist ministers from Newark and all Central Ohio are here this week in attendance at the annual conference.
Bishop W. F. Anderson is presiding and the session will be continued over next Sunday. During the week the proposition to re-district the state making it into four conferences instead of three, as at present, will be up for consideration. In connection with the conference, a half dozen organizations affiliated with the church are holding meetings in the city. It is expected that an unusual number of changes will be made in the location of ministers for the next year. The announcement of places will be made next Monday at the closing session.

Governor Willis is planning to start for the Pacific coast, to be gone about five weeks beginning the latter part of this month.

Every one of the 88 counties in the state will have representatives in the classes at the Ohio State University which opens its winter term in three weeks. Indications point to a record-breaking attendance.

Within only a little over three more months of the present year, of which possibly not more than half the time it will be possible to use automobiles, the number of sales being made throughout the state of these machines is little less than wonderful. Last year at this same time practically all of the applications for state license tags had been issued, but now they are still coming in at the rate of almost 50 a day.
One day last week more than 200 applications were received, and it is predicted that the total number of Ohio-owned autos will be close to 200,000 on Dec. 31. All the money received in payment for these tags goes for the keeping up of public highways of the state.

The free employment labor agencies of the state are reporting a large business, and close to 10,000 were placed through them during the month of August. Of this number over 3,000 were placed in Cleveland alone. No better indication of general business conditions can be found than in the work of these agencies, and the placing of almost 10,000 within a month or over 300 a day, certainly reflects improved business conditions generally.

Few screen dramas ever attracted the immense amount of attention from literary men and writers, as well as the public at large, as has the William Fox production, "A Woman's Resurrection." Count Leo Tolstoi's greatest work, in the visualization of which Betty Nansen, the world-famous European tragedienne, is seen at the full height of her marvellous dramatic powers. Discussion has waged rife about the character of sinning Katush Maslova, the most complex and interesting study of womanhood the great Count Leo Tolstoi ever penned. Since the picture has been shown Miss Nansen has been deluged with letters from all over the country asking her to give her conception of the character.
Miss Nansen has answered all the letters in three words: "She is human." At the Auditorium tonight and tomorrow.

Manager Thomas at the Grand offers the Knickerbocker star picture, Mary Nash in the Tides of Time, popular Hearst Selig News Pictorial

Who will be Ruth? That is the question. Manager Siehanoller of the Alhambra asks it, but the people of Newark are to give the answer.
At the Alhambra soon will be shown a local picture play in which eleven Newark girls are to take part. Those in the cast will be selected by the readers of this paper for the Alhambra. The rules of the contest and full details appear elsewhere in this paper. The first coupon appears tomorrow.

Going to Church.

A count of church congregations in the city of New York recently showed that the attendance the past summer has been 25 per cent more than usual. Similar conditions are noted in other cities though no count has been made in Newark. Church men are saying that it is the effect of the war, leading people to more serious thinking.

The question is often discussed whether interest in religion in the popular mind is growing or declining. Religion does not encounter the popular opposition that it used to. Formerly open atheists and professed skeptics were arguing on every street corner and loafing place. They persuaded some people to remain away from church. Yet opposition is one form of advertising. It is quite possible that the open hostility to the church of 25 years ago helped it more than the indifference of more recent years.

The pastor of the Granville Baptist church, Rev. Mr. Breisford, and several of the Newark ministers have written for the Advocate reasons why people should go to church on Sunday and the pastors' arguments published in Saturday's Advocate the past several weeks have been widely read and very favorably received. Others will appear in future Saturday issues.

What keeps church attendance down is rarely direct antagonism. It is more the fact that people are tired after a strenuous modern week day, and like to sleep late. Still more frequently it is that they have excursions and entertainments and sports that they wish to enjoy. Perhaps this is why attendance often gains in hard times. The man with a costly family and a desire for economy may feel that he will get out of the day cheaper with a quiet attendance at church.

There are of course a great mass of people who live superficially, content with the mere exterior of the world about them. The satisfaction of the senses, eating, drinking, movie shows, these fill their hearts. They skate over the surface of life, and never look underneath.

To some of these fritterers away of previous time, the way may possibly have come as a stirring of lower depths. Certainly it is a time for examination of our conventional moralities and complacencies, for a universal confession of failure and sin.

Some one asks what has become of the man who used to ride an old rusty second hand bicycle that cost him $5.00. Well, in some cases, he is about to trade off a $1500 automobile that has developed a rattle that he can't cure.

Feeling the necessity of "preparedness" for war, the motorcycle riders are getting valuable practice parading and running down people on the public highways.

Why is it that when the theater people put on a specially risqué show, they always announce it as "refined comedy?"

Better Agriculture.

The Ohio Experiment Station, through its various departments, is studying the problems with which the farmer has to contend. The results of investigations and experimentation are published from time to time throughout the year in the form of bulletins and circulars. Many of the truths contained in these publications can be put to the practical test upon the farm with much profit to the farmer. Over 60,000 farmers in Ohio and the adjoining states are reading the bulletins and circulars of the Station. A post-card addressed to the Experiment Station, Wooster, O., with the request, will place one's name upon the mailing list.

In order to reach more of the farmers in the state, special illustrative exhibits have been prepared. To be installed at state, local and county fairs. These exhibits illustrate, in a graphic way, some of the truths which have been discovered by years of study and experimentation. Some of the lines of work which will be illustrated at the Licking county fair are as follows:—Analysis of farm manures, fertilizers and crops, plant food removed in farm crops, crop rotation, selection of varieties, thick and thin seedling of wheat and oats, early and late seedling of wheat, early and late planting of corn, insects and noxious weeds, practical forestry, feeding farm animals, fertilizer experiments, keeping dairying records, and many other items of interest to the farmer.

Daily demonstrations will be made in the use of the Babcock milk tester. Samples of sweet milk will be tested free of charge. Samples of soil will be tested for lime. Weed and insect specimens will be identified.

It is no longer customary on the first day of school to give all the children a licking on general principles. The children now see how much disturbance they can make without forcing the teacher to resign.

There is at least one time when the motorist is convinced that the farmer is the backbone of the country, and that is when he has to be assisted out of a mud hole with a pair of oxen.

It is claimed that the old geographical maps will be rendered obsolete by the war, but anyway they are mighty convenient things to set up on the desk and conceal a story paper.

Parents are advised to give their children individual paper drinking cups for use in school. The boys will find them splendid for holding worms for bait.

It is believed that the boys would take kindly to having swimming taught in the public schools, in spite of the fact that it would promote cleanliness.

The fly swatting campaign and the effort to exterminate Mexican generals are two phases of the war on pests that have our hearty sympathy.

After spending a lot of money on their summer travels, many people return home pleased that anyway the grocer didn't get it on his old bill.

It is predicted that the young people are going in for roller skating this season, in spite of the fact that no one claims it's wicked.

How would this suggestion do for a slogan: "Cox built roads—Willis builds excuses."

There are opportunities now for American goods in the Caucasus region.

Truly Decentralized.

The Willis highway act is now a law, but it is not a law that will build roads as was done before its passage. It is poorly constructed, in many respects meaningless, and the statement is made that it will stop all effective state road work for the next two years. The attorney general is now pondering over fifty questions presented under the law by those interested in the work. Now a constitutional question is to be raised which will under this law probably invalidate the state levy and Ohio goes back into the mire. Truly the state highway department is decentralized.

The Right To Travel.

The Pittsburg Gazette Times of September 7 carried the following from the pen of Prof. W. H. Johnson of Denison University, Granville:

I notice in your issue of Thursday a paragraph from the Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch criticizing quite unfavorably those Americans who during the past year have presumed to travel on British ships. Such criticism is wholly out of place. What was the occasion of your own splendid editorial tribute to President Wilson on the same page of your paper? Simply the fact that he has thwarted the attempt of one of the strongest nations in the world to flinch away from Americans and all other neutrals the right to do that very thing. Now if all Americans had listened to the promptings of that taint of cowardice which lurks in some degree in every human breast, or to the sinister advice of Bryan, falsely suggesting it as a patriotic duty not to get the government into trouble by exercising a right which it would feel obliged to defend if violated, President Wilson's opportunity to vindicate the right would have been sacrificed to a paltry faint-heartedness, which even a Roosevelt's vocabulary could hardly characterize.

The triumph which our diplomacy has won for Americans, for humanity, and for all future time is directly based, be it ever remembered, on the lives that went down with the Lusitania and the Arabic. These citizens of ours were on those ships in full accord with age-long traditions and specific guarantees of international law. Their lives were taken in violation of that law, as has now been admitted, thanks to the courage of a president who would not consent to look at vital questions of diplomacy through the unsteady eyes of a Bryan. Any American citizen in the land may now feel that his life is safe in sailing across the Atlantic in any passenger vessel which suits his convenience, and for that safety he is indebted no more truly to the president and Secretary Lansing than to those brave-hearted American citizens who would not cravenly forego a right simply because it was threatened. Let criticism of their course be left to such as Viereck. Let those of us who wish to retain the true spirit of America realize what we owe to them and in due time raise a suitable monument to their memory. It does not fall in the way of all of us to have occasion to vindicate human rights at such a cost, and not all of us could be expected to have the necessary courage in any case, but we should have made a pitiable spectacle before the eyes of the civilized world if among all those who had good cause to be crossing the Atlantic during the past months none had had sufficient courage to embark upon merchant ships of the belligerent nations.

W. H. JOHNSON.

Two Harvests.

(Canton News.)

Two harvests are being reaped this year.

In America the farmers are just finishing their work of harvesting five and one-half billion bushels of grain.

In Europe during the past year the scythe of death has cut down as dead or maimed more than a million men.

In America the harvest was gathered with joy and a nation-wide feeling of joy and optimism prevails because the harvest is in and the people are ready to enjoy the fruits of it.

In Europe the harvest was gathered with tears and suffering and nations bow their heads in anguish as the work of the reaper becomes known and a harvest such as the world has never known is continually growing.

America's is a harvest of peace; Europe's a harvest of war.

Both cannot be gathered at the same time. America is gratified with her own harvest and has no desire to change.

Talk on Thrift

By T. D. MacGregor

FINANCIAL PREPAREDNESS.

"The United States will have to go through a long course of discipline before thrift is established as a national virtue to the same extent as it is in Great Britain."—The Toronto Mail and Empire.

The movement to improve our military preparedness is receiving national attention at this time. It is a matter of the utmost importance.

Another and somewhat similar problem which confronts the nation and its individual citizens today is the proper conservation of national and personal resources. It is admitted on every side by those who are in a position to know that just now is emphatically a time for everybody to save as much as he can for the best interests of all concerned.

Various plans have been inaugurated to encourage saving. It is not only banks that are back of these efforts. In various ways a great many employers are encouraging thrift on the part of their employees, and there is an increasing number of voluntary "thrift clubs" and investment associations. One of the latest of these to come to our attention is worthy of notice for the sake of others who may be interested.

This saving and investing organization is called the "Moody's Magazine Savings Club." Mr. A. W. Ferrin, president of the Moody's Magazine and Book Company, New York, says: "There have been a large number of these clubs formed and several of them have completed the first ten months, have allotted the bonds and have started in on a second series."

The certificate of membership reads as follows:

This certifies that..... is a member of the Moody Magazine Savings Club, No. and that he has paid to the treasurer of the club the sum of dollars the first of monthly payments for the purchase of one One Hundred Dollar Bond. (Name of bond to be written in when purchased.)

Said bond to be selected by him, to be purchased for him and held by the treasurer of the club in accordance with the conditions and regulations adopted therefor, a full understanding of which he hereby acknowledges.

Signed..... Signed.....

Member..... Treasurer..... Thus it will be seen that the idea of the club is to help its members prepare for the future by building a bulwark of savings and storing up financial ammunition in the shape of good bonds.

This is an excellent idea, but if anyone who reads this article is so situated that he cannot join such a club, he can still carry out the principle on his own account. Let him save in a savings account and at the proper time withdraw some of his savings to put into a good bond, mortgage or other investment recommended by his bankers.

This has been the simple but sufficient plan of thousands who have solved the problem of financial preparedness.

Doing His Duty.

What grand word President Wilson is doing—keeping us out of war! If he keeps this up until peace comes to Europe and Mexico, the United States will be the strongest and happiest nation in the world. The fruits of peace grow on every hand and we will be gathering them for all the nations. Our hope consists in keeping cool, going straight ahead, talking it over, dropping our vanity, and making righteousness the soul of honor. It was feared that something President Wilson was getting a little too exacting in treating with Germany and England, but the results have shown his wisdom, and today very nearly everything he has asked of these two nations has been conceded. There was many a time that we could have tumbled into war, but his patience and his faith in final triumph of the right kept him steady. In all that relates to foreign affairs he has shown himself superior to his critics.—Ohio State Journal.

Exploding Powder Mills.

Powder mills have naturally a strong inclination to blow themselves up at every opportunity, but a state of war even a long way off seems to enhance this peculiarity. Is it any wonder that he gets a bit testy now and then?—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Usury in Iowa.

After devoting their attention for weeks to the framing of a law to prevent usury, the legislators of Iowa, it appears, finally agreed upon a measure that seemed to meet the needs of the hour. Such measures are generally intended to cover the small loan transactions. The specialty of the lender or small sums in Iowa as elsewhere is a loan of $25 for one month. Under the Iowa law, intended to protect the small borrower against usury, the lender, it appears, can charge on each loan: Interest, 50 cents; inspection and investigation, $2.50; drawing papers, $1; total, $4. A cost of $4 on a loan of $25 for one month is equivalent to an interest charge of exactly 192

5¢ for Laundry and all House Work
KIRK'S FLAKE SOAP

(Copyright, 1915, by J. Keeley.)
In a previous lesson written for the Advocate's development series by Anna Louise Shafer we were given the "technique," as it were, for correct breathing. In today's lesson we are given the scientific reasons making the following of such technique imperative, if we are to get the aimed-for results in such a development course. It is easy to see from this scientific explanation why the best physicians should advise deep breathing and plenty of fresh air.

So far as physical and mental vigor, health and its companion, beauty, are concerned, they are not possible, in their highest degree, without dynamic, powerful, forced deep breathing of pure air. In passive or superficial breathing many of the lung cells are left entirely unventilated, and no exercise whatever given to the muscles which should act and react with every respiration.

One of the most important chemical processes of the body is oxidation of the blood as it passes through the lungs, and thence through the circulatory system conveys the oxygen to the tissues for their healthy upkeep. Oxygen (the vital part of the atmosphere which the lungs absorb in breathing) might be called the pigment which nature uses in her color scheme for cheeks and lips. Science tells us that "where the oxygen-carrying mechanism of the body is not sufficiently developed there is a loss of bodily strength and endurance; also a considerable reduction of the number of red corpuscles in the blood." This naturally results in pallor, bad color, and if it is allowed to become chronic in anemia. The only logical treatment for this condition would be correct deep breathing of pure, fresh air, with nourishing food.

Oxygen must combine with the food, or body fuel, in order to form combustion and liberate energy. Delay in this oxidation, or combustion, tends to increase the body weight, because the waste is not properly disposed of. Poorly developed lung cells, the result of bad breathing habits, are a prolific cause of overweight. In correct abdominal breathing there is a constant expansion and contraction of the muscles, which would tend to prevent the accumulation of excess fat.

Our article No. 4 gives the muscular action in correct deep breathing.

LESSON VIII.

Rhythmic Breathing With Change of Weight.

Standing in the basic well-balanced pose, completely empty the lungs (with a little blowing sound through the lips). Now inhale (through the nose) with a slow, steady draw, while you mentally count four pulse beats. Holding breath for two (2) counts, sway weight to right foot (hip leading). Return to first position while you exhale. Repeat, alternating from right to left.

This gives a double exercise which is both nerve resting and grace developing; at the same time you are making the unused lung cells acquainted with their best friend—oxygen.

Obituary

Mrs. Caroline Hancock Cain.

Caroline, daughter of Wesley and Charlotte Hancock, was born near Union Station, Union township, Licking county, Jan. 16th 1838, died at her home near Granville, Ohio, Sept. 1st, 1915, aged 77 years 7 months and 15 days. She was one of a large family of children, and grew into womanhood, learning much in the rugged school of pioneer life. She was married to Leroy Cain, Dec 22nd, 1859, seven children were born of this union, six of home live to mourn the loss of a devoted mother. The husband and one daughter, Idell, preceded her to the heavenly land. She confessed her faith in her Lord and Master early in life, and loved and served him to the end. Twelve grandchildren, made glad and happy her last days. She was strictly a home woman, generous, sympathetic, and appreciative, winning the love and respect of neighbors and friends. Optimistic in her views of life, and cheerful even in dark days. Her children are rich indeed for their heritage was a good Mother.

In a previous lesson written for the Advocate's development series by Anna Louise Shafer we were given the "technique," as it were, for correct breathing. In today's lesson we are given the scientific reasons making the following of such technique imperative, if we are to get the aimed-for results in such a development course. It is easy to see from this scientific explanation why the best physicians should advise deep breathing and plenty of fresh air.

So far as physical and mental vigor, health and its companion, beauty, are concerned, they are not possible, in their highest degree, without dynamic, powerful, forced deep breathing of pure air. In passive or superficial breathing many of the lung cells are left entirely unventilated, and no exercise whatever given to the muscles which should act and react with every respiration.

One of the most important chemical processes of the body is oxidation of the blood as it passes through the lungs, and thence through the circulatory system conveys the oxygen to the tissues for their healthy upkeep. Oxygen (the vital part of the atmosphere which the lungs absorb in breathing) might be called the pigment which nature uses in her color scheme for cheeks and lips. Science tells us that "where the oxygen-carrying mechanism of the body is not sufficiently developed there is a loss of bodily strength and endurance; also a considerable reduction of the number of red corpuscles in the blood." This naturally results in pallor, bad color, and if it is allowed to become chronic in anemia. The only logical treatment for this condition would be correct deep breathing of pure, fresh air, with nourishing food.

Oxygen must combine with the food, or body fuel, in order to form combustion and liberate energy. Delay in this oxidation, or combustion, tends to increase the body weight, because the waste is not properly disposed of. Poorly developed lung cells, the result of bad breathing habits, are a prolific cause of overweight. In correct abdominal breathing there is a constant expansion and contraction of the muscles, which would tend to prevent the accumulation of excess fat.

Our article No. 4 gives the muscular action in correct deep breathing.

LESSON VIII.

Rhythmic Breathing With Change of Weight.

Standing in the basic well-balanced pose, completely empty the lungs (with a little blowing sound through the lips). Now inhale (through the nose) with a slow, steady draw, while you mentally count four pulse beats. Holding breath for two (2) counts, sway weight to right foot (hip leading). Return to first position while you exhale. Repeat, alternating from right to left.

Markets

New York Stock Exchange.
(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, Sept. 8.—Manipulation of war shares was the feature of today's early trading. General Motors made an initial gain of three points to 253 and Crucible Steel rose 1-3-4 to 238, with gains of a point in others of that group. Tennessee copper was the only metal issue to record a gain, advancing 2-1-3 to 57 1-2. Railways were irregular. Reading's advance of a point to 151 5-8 soon being lost. Rock Island was heavy, losing 1-3-4 to 144 probably as a result of withdrawal of an important interest from further connection with the property. The local market derived no encouragement from London, where Americans manifested further weakness.

Active selling set in before the end of the first hour, the decline having its origin in rumors of fresh international complications. Stocks of the collieries of Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Southern Pacific and U. S. Steel sold under yesterday's lowest quotation and general heaviness prevailed in other parts of the list. Before noon attempts were made to rally the market by another advance in the high priced specialties, but the movement met with indifferent success, trading becoming apathetic. There was a marked falling off in commission business but this was neutralized by lighter foreign offerings, although exchange on London remained heavy. Bonds were irregular.

Granville, Sept. 8.—Scraps of conversations overheard at the Case peach orchards yesterday, among those awaiting their turn, were amusing, interesting and enlightening. Said one man to his neighbor: "How do you manage to carry so many peaches in your machine?" "Well, I'll tell you," the neighbor replied, "I can put so many baskets on the back seat, so many down on the floor, so many in front, and last week I set a basket on the running board." "What!" through Granville?" exclaimed the incredulous bystander. "If that basket sat on the running board of your 'cooky cutter' through Granville, it sure was some setter!"

"Said another bystander: 'Granville streets are a joke, aren't they?' "Well," sighed a fat man, "they are no joke, believe me!" "No," added his partner, "I think they are a calamity. Granville ought to have a change of heart and become converted to the 'good roads' idea." And in face of such comment what could even patriotism offer in defense of "Granville the Beautiful?"

The sewer ditches have merely emphasized, not created the unfavorable conditions which of course have been greatly aggravated by the heavy rains. To be sure, Broadway is to be paved, but the streets leading to the important thoroughfares such as Cherry street to Columbus, and Pearl street to Mt. Vernon ought to share in the improvements. No one wants this old town to become "known all over the country" for its poor streets.

About thirty women of the Baptist church were guests last evening of Mrs. Paul Biefeld at her home in East Elm street at an informal "show" in honor of Miss Emily Spencer, whose marriage to Mr. Roy B. Deer, 15, is soon to be solemnized. The girls of the choir in which Miss Spencer has done excellent service for several years, were present, as were half a dozen matrons of the church, and all brought offerings of love and esteem for the popular young bride-to-be.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet with Mrs. Fannie Thompson in Maple street on Friday afternoon, Sept. 10 at 2:30. There will be an election of officers and other important business. All members are urged to attend.

The meetings of the Columbus association in the Welsh Hills Baptist church began today, and will continue through tomorrow.

Mrs. W. C. P. Rhoades of Brooklyn, who has been at the home of her sister in Cleveland, joined her husband and son in Granville yesterday where they will remain for a few days at the home of Judge and Mrs. J. H. Swartz in East Elm street.

Mrs. Frank Webb of Newark was in Granville yesterday overseeing some extensive improvements on the Kappa Phi house. A sun parlor is to be added, and numerous other changes will be made in the attractive chapter house.

Dr. W. A. Chamberlain, who with his two daughters, Misses Grace and Frances, has been in his old home town, Geneva, O., returned yesterday.

Miss Dorothy Swartz, who has been visiting friends in Dayton and Xenia returned yesterday.

Mrs. J. R. Fitzgibbon, Mrs. Jane Buell, Mrs. Robert Davidson, Mrs. Wilson Heisey of Newark were in Granville yesterday.

Burton Case announces that his peach crop is about cleaned up, today. He says that he has had the finest class of customers that any one can ask. They have dealt directly with him at the orchard where he has tried to give them their money's worth in quality and quantity. For the most part they have been courteous and considerate and will all find a welcome next year—if there is a next year's crop.

back for the White House. The state department corridor by that time was thronged by clerks eager to get a glimpse of the President on such an unusual occasion. No attempt was made to keep them back and as the President moved on he was surrounded by correspondents who asked about his talk with the secretary.

"The state is not trembling," he said. "I just brought over some papers of a routine nature which ordinarily I would have sent over. There is nothing new at all."

President Wilson was asked if there was anything new in connection with Ambassador Dumba's case.

"Nothing at all," he said. "The secretary is handling that."

Then surrounded by the secret service men, Mr. Wilson walked down the stairs and across the street to his office by the same route as he came.

Later it was learned that the papers which President Wilson took to Secretary Lansing included a copy of the letter Dr. Dumba had sent to his foreign office, and which was found by the British secret service men. Photographs also had been sent to the state department by Ambassador Page in London.

After the president returned to the executive offices, White House officials said the visit to the state department would not be discussed further.

Ambassador Dumba in the meantime had been to call on Secretary Wilson of the department of labor, in connection with a plan to aid in securing employment for any Austrian subjects who must leave their places in the munitions plants as the result of publication of the decree threatening punishment. Secretary Wilson was not at his office and the ambassador returned to his chancellery intending to return to the summer embassy at Lenox, Mass., today.

News of the president's call on Secretary Lansing was received at the embassy with undisguised surprise. It was plain that officials there were at a loss to conjecture what the next move would be.

Secretary Lansing would not discuss the president's visit except to say he was taken by surprise when the chief executive entered his office unannounced.

Although the full text of Ambassador Dumba's letter has been received by the state department it is said to have contained an enclosure which has not been included in the copy sent to the state department. The enclosure, hitherto published refers to consuls General Von Nuber communicating with the editor of a foreign language newspaper in relation to the arrangement of strikes in the Bethlehem works and in the Middle West.

Secretary Lansing refused to discuss that feature further than to say the enclosure had not been received. He said he had no arrangement for further conference with the ambassador and made it plain that the final decision was resting with President Wilson.

What girl will be Ruth?

At Balaklava.
The total Russian forces, infantry, cavalry and artillery, at Balaklava has been variously estimated at from 30,000 to 50,000 men, while the English force was much smaller in numbers. The two famous charges of that day were that of the heavy brigade of about 900 men against 3,000 Russians and the still more renowned charge of the light brigade of about 600 men against the Russian guns. No accurate figures seem to be recorded, as those given by various authorities differ greatly. The result of the first charge was the break of the Russian cavalry, which fled back to the protection of their artillery and were not pursued very far by the British. The second charge was unsuccessful as a military measure, for, though the Russian gunners were momentarily driven from their guns, they returned and fired upon friend and foe alike, while a superior force of cavalry engaged the British. It is said that evening parade saw only ten men mounted out of the 600 who had ridden in the charge.

Sights In Italian Cities.
Genoa and Rome are the most beautifully lighted cities in Europe because their streets are narrow enough to allow of the slinging of white electric globes across from house to house. There are no disgusting lampposts, but at intervals down the middle of the street swing the globes of light of the tint of moonlight. Venice, on the contrary, is terribly overlighted and glitters distressingly and inappropriately. Ruskin complained that the gas in the great piazza had grown so dazzling in his day that walking or sitting there he could no longer see moon or stars. What would he have thought of the horrid exaggeration of the clusters of electric lights? Without being a Ruskin one longed to switch off nine out of every ten.—London Globe.

How Very Annoying!
Just as the young man raised his hat in response to a bow and a smile from the beautiful girl who was passing by his foot struck a banana peel and flew out from under him. He landed on the back of his neck, his hat flying in one direction and his cane in another. "Are you hurt?" asked a friendly policeman as the victim of the accident sat up and began to swear volubly. "Hurt!" he exclaimed. "No, I'm not hurt. I'm dead sore; that's what I am. That boned head camera man across the street forgot to turn the crank, and now I've got to do that fall all over again."

Then the policeman realized that he had been privileged to see a moving picture comedy in the making.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

WOMAN COULD NOT SIT UP

Now Does Her Own Work.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her.

Ironton, Ohio.—"I am enjoying better health now than I have for twelve years. When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could not sit up. I had female troubles and was very nervous. I used the remedies a year and I can do my work and for the last eight months I have worked for other women, too. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for I know I never would have been as well if I had not taken it and I recommend it to suffering women."

Daughter Helped Also.
"I gave it to my daughter when she was thirteen years old. She was in school and was a nervous wreck, and could not sleep nights. Now she looks so healthy that even the doctor speaks of it. You can publish this letter if you like."—Mrs. RENA BOWMAN, 161 S. 10th Street, Ironton, Ohio.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out and drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

True Secret of Keeping Youthful Looking

(The Beauty Seeker.)
"The real secret of keeping young-looking and beautiful skin is to keep the liver and bowels normally active. Without these requisites, poisonous waste products remain in the system, polluting the blood and lodging in various organs, tissues, joints. One becomes flabby, obese, nervous, mentally sluggish, dull-eyed, wrinkled and sallow of face."
"But to get liver and bowels working as they ought, without producing evil effects, is another problem. Fortunately, there is a prescription of unquestioned merit, which may now be had in a convenient tablet form. This is due largely to an ingredient derived from the humble May apple, or its root, which has been called 'vegetable calomel' because of its effectiveness—though of course it is not to be classed with the real calomel of mercurial origin. These are habit-forming constituents. 'Santal tablets'—that's the name—and their use is not followed by weakness or exhaustion. On the contrary, these harmless, pleasant tablets tend to invigorate and elasticity to the relaxed intestinal wall. Santal tablets, which may be procured from any druggist—a dime's worth will do—will prove a revelation to any constipated, liver-troubled person."

Chief Cause of Pimples, Blotches, Sallow Skin

(Messenger of Health.)
Unightly eruptions, pimples, boils, blotches, sallowness and skin troubles are due to a sluggish liver, constipated bowels and a polluted blood stream as a consequence. How foolish in such cases to resort to outward applications which can never have natural, permanent results. If more people only knew it, there is a very simple remedy, to be found in any drug store, which is as simple as tea, is harmless and quick acting. It is an old formula, long recognized by the medical profession, which has been put in tablet form, and at such small cost no one need now be deprived of its wonderful benefits.
"Santal tablets"—that's the name—are entirely vegetable and there's no habit-forming ingredient. You need only eat about a dime's worth, and swallow one at bedtime to realize there's nothing else quite so good for the purpose. The action in the morning is so easy, so soothing, and instead of a weakening after-effect, you feel truly refreshed and invigorated. Santal tablets are not only the most famous remedy for constipation and torpid liver, but off the fastest, most sensible treatment for complexion difficulties of the character mentioned.

Great Demand for New Constipation Remedy

They say that the advent of the "santal tablet" as a vegetable substitute for calomel has resulted in an extraordinary demand for this remarkable remedy. It seems to have made its mark particularly with those afflicted with chronic constipation, who were quick to recognize its great value over calomel and the usual laxatives.
Santal tablets, aside from their effect, do not have their action largely to tendency to aid in bringing about natural functioning—instead of encouraging the "cathartic habit." Also, instead of doing harm to the delicate mechanism of the organs involved, they exert a healing influence. Instead of weakening, they add tone to the intestinal wall. And they work so easily and gently, they are so freely preferred on this account to the violently acting purgatives. Their inaction on the membrane of the bowels, the popularity of santal tablets. One need procure only a dime's worth, and take one tablet at bedtime to be convinced that the ideal remedy for constipation, torpid liver, and their many evil consequences, has finally been found.—Druggists Review.

SPANISH KING BELIEVES IN HIS COUNTRY

WHICH HE SAYS WILL HAVE A MOST IMPORTANT PART TO PLAY

When European War is Concluded—Alfonso Gives Up Plan to Visit United States.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Paris, Sept. 8.—King Alfonso of Spain, has had to abandon plans for a visit to America, because of the war, he told Senor Cevillier, an Argentine journalist, during an audience at which the conflict now raging was freely discussed.

"It is quite impossible to prophesy when the war will end," the monarch is quoted as saying in a review of the conversation printed by the Espana Review. "It has been my pet dream to visit America, but I shall not now be able to go for years. When the war is over, the work here will be enormous. To abandon reforms, we shall have to hasten all our own forms, and if I do not deceive myself, the role Spain will have to play will be such that her progress, which hitherto has been at a snail's pace, will be increased to a tremendous speed."

"The same progress may be expected for all humanity if the war results in general disarmament," observed Senor Cevillier.

"Ah, no," returned King Alfonso. "After the war, nations will arm more than ever. When one sees a country like Belgium, neutralized by agreement of all nations, eventually finding no other defense than her own armed force, it is easy to understand that other countries, big and little realize that to exist, it is indispensable to work in times of peace and surround themselves with the most positive of guarantees."

"Does not your majesty think the lower social orders will exercise pressure on the governments to prevent them from increasing the burden of armed peace?" asked the interviewer.

"I think, and you may repeat this," replied the Spanish ruler, "that socialism will become daily more governmental and that socialists will obtain satisfaction for their more just aspirations by legal methods without having to use violence, but I think also that as they evolve they will find out they have been deceived by politicians, who have made of international pacificism a banner on which they have lived."

"Even the pacifists will recognize after this war that while the instincts of human nature remain unmodified, there are no better safeguards for right in international questions than foresight and strength."

"Besides, after the war there will be no unemployment. On the contrary, there will be work for all and it will be necessary to work. The world will continue to be what it is, and in ten or twelve years we shall ask ourselves, astounded, 'but what happened?'"

WEeping SIneWS.

Various Methods by Which Ganglions May Be Cured.

Physicians use the word ganglion to describe a swelling of the sheath of a tendon, which contains fluid, and which usually occurs about the wrist. A swelling sinew is the same thing. A little swelling forms, and the fluid distends it more and more as it collects. The swelling is elastic and soft. Sometimes it is small and does not cause any trouble, and occasionally it passes away without any treatment. It may yield to long continued gentle pressure, like that which a ribbon band exerts. A well placed ribbon bandage also helps to relieve the feeling of weakness that almost always accompanies a ganglion.

In a few cases the fluid that the ganglion contains is tuberculous, but in most cases the ganglionic swelling is entirely harmless. In tuberculous cases it is best to remove the sheath and its contents completely.

Ganglions are usually seen on the back of the wrist, but sometimes one comes on the front and increases in size. It is then likely to spread down the sinews into the palm of the hand. That naturally cripples the victim more or less, especially since the swelling often gives pain in cold and damp weather.

There are various ways of breaking a weeping sinew. Sometimes it can be dispersed by sudden pressure applied by the thumbs, which bursts the ganglion without breaking the skin. It is best then to bandage the part very tightly in order to prevent the little sac from filling up again. The bandage should contain some thin, hard substance, such as a large coin, directly over the site of the sac. Sometimes a ganglion refuses to burst, but yields to tight bandaging combined with treatment by a blister or by painting with iodine. The cure in such cases is effected by gradual absorption. If other means fail there is nothing to do but to open the ganglion and scrape out its contents.—Youth's Companion.

SAVED THEIR HONOR.

A Diplomatic Crisis That Required Careful Handling.

Your true diplomatist is not one who is not touchy concerning his own dignity and that of the nation that he represents. The lengths to which they have carried their sensitiveness in the past is shown by an amusing episode that occurred when the peace of Karlowitz was negotiated in 1699.

The war between Austria and Turkey, which led to the siege of Vienna by the Turks, had just been brought to an end by the battle of Zenta, in which Austria was victorious. Prince Eugene at once gathered the diplomats at Karlowitz, in Croatia, to dictate the terms of peace, but for weeks the congress made no progress because the representatives could not agree as to their proper positions in the council hall. That the representative of Emperor Leopold should have the seat of honor was taken for granted, but the other parties to the congress—the Turks, Russians, English, Dutch, Poles, Venetians—all clamored for the next highest seat.

Finally the situation became so critical that it was feared that the peace would never be negotiated. So drastic measures had to be taken. As the diplomats could not be coerced, Eugene immediately employed a number of workmen and had them build a new council chamber. It was a round building, with a special entrance built for each representative. In the middle was a circular table surrounded by chairs all the same size and finish. The diplomats now came willingly to their private entrances, and at the sound of a trumpet they entered, each standing beside his appointed seat. At a given sign they all sat down, and every one's pride was satisfied.

Thus at length, says Das Buch Fur Alle, was the peace of Karlowitz signed after several weeks' delay because of the foolish caprices of the diplomats.

Constitution Island.

Constitution Island is in the Hudson river opposite West Point. The island comprises 300 acres densely wooded. During the Revolution it formed part of the defenses of the Hudson river. Upon it are the remains of ten breastworks. These were completed by Kosciuszko. Washington's life guard was mustered out on this island in 1783. Miss Anna Bartlett Warner, its owner, and Mrs. Russell Sager in 1908 made a gift of the island to the government of the United States, and it is now a part of the military reservation.

Roundabout Bribery.

At one old time British election a candidate won by means of an umbrella. Sheer absence of mind caused him to leave the camp behind at every house at which he called to canvass, and of course when it was returned by the voter a sovereign was only a suitable reward for honesty.

INDIFFERENCE OF THE ENGLISH IS EXAGGERATED

SIR GILBERT PARKER MAKES A PROTEST AGAINST THE CHARGE

England Is Working Now as She Never Worked Before In All Her History He Declares.

Following is an extract from a letter written by Sir Gilbert Parker from London to a well known San Franciscan:

Believe me, the indifference of the English people has been grossly exaggerated and cruelly misrepresented. Of course great numbers of people do not realize, as the people of France, who have the enemy on their own soil, realize, the exact meaning and extent of the war, and the tremendous issues involved. So the papers like the London Times and the Daily Mail exaggerated the situation in order to arouse all classes, and make the most apathetic in the most distant corner of these islands wake up. England is working now as she never worked before in all her history; but we have been up against a proposition as colossal as ever faced any nation. We were unprepared for it, and nothing ought to tell more in our favor than the fact that we did not foresee and did not prepare for so ghastly a crime against humanity.

I only say this to you to give my feelings vent, because I have received a great many letters which have stirred me greatly. I replied to one yesterday which was written to me by a correspondent in Michigan, and I am sending you herewith an extract from my reply:

I must make a firm protest against the wicked charge made against the working classes of this country. Believe me, they are not more unpatriotic than any other people in the world. They are commanded and controlled, dragooned and conscripted as the working classes are in other European countries, and perhaps they have not the same national ambitions, since they have been brought up with the idea of fulfilling themselves rather than upbuilding a state; but since this war began, they have contributed enormously in numbers to the three millions and a quarter of soldiers who have voluntarily enlisted to serve king and country. If they have not made the same vocal demonstration as have people in other countries at war, it is only because they have not been incited so to do, and because it is not on the whole their nature so to do. Also it is in some degree caused by the fact that the true and deep significance of the whole business does not sink swiftly into the minds of the people who are insular, separate, and have always been considered safe behind their moats of sea. That they are degenerate, the battlefields of France and Belgium have disproved. They are recruiting now in enormous numbers and will recruit more and more as the staggering necessity gets into their minds. But please remember that in a country like England, where the individual is supreme, where all action is of his own volition, and not the will of the state, that he must first understand and be convinced before he consecrates his endeavor and his life. Believe me, in the overwhelming majority of the homes of England conviction is now engendered. There is no more degeneracy in Glasgow or London than there is in Pittsburg or New York. I have read the grossest libels in American newspapers on so-called British apathy and lack of patriotism. There is a percentage of slackers and of non-patriots; so there was in the Civil War of the United States among the peace-loving people, and it was only conscription that produced the army which finally ended with the surrender at Appomattox. * * *

It is wonderful how France impresses everybody who goes there but it must be remembered that all the men of France are in the field, and all the men of England can not be in the field until we have sufficient equipment, and how could we have sufficient equipment when our army was organized upon a basis of 550,000 men? To have got an army of three million men and organized for three million men in a year is a stupendous piece of work, and if the equipment is not complete, well, the nation on earth could have produced adequate equipment for so many men in that time. Also the war is carried

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

Irritability, oversensitiveness, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, dizziness—these are symptoms of nervous exhaustion, neurasthenia.

Very often the patient feels best and brightest at night. Rest seems to bring no refreshment, the nervous system fails to recuperate. This distressing condition is caused by worry more often than by any other one thing. Overwork and worry invite the disorder.
The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed toward building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail at 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50. Begin the treatment at once before your condition becomes chronic.

Two useful books, "Diseases of the Nervous System," and "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. if you mention this paper. on within French territory, and the terrible significance of it is brought home to a most impressionable people, but the records of this war will show, before we have finished, that the people of this island are what their fathers were, who broke Napoleon's power.

OPTIMISTS.

One fellow's schemes are always winning, however wild and weird they seem; Dame Fortune on his plans is grinning, and realized is every dream. He buys a mine where sundry boobies have sunk their coin to no avail, and straightway digs out gold or rubies, or some variety of kale. All things he touches turn to money, the desert blossoms at his glance, and so the fellow wins and wins and wins.

smile he wears is sunny, he cannot help but sing and dance. "I cannot understand," he stammers, "why folks denounce this best of globes, why knockers wield their rusty hammers, and kickers howl and tear their robes. Life has so many joyous features, so many charms beyond compare, that they are surely spineless creatures who growl around and paw the air." We do not heed the sunshine chatter of one who never knew reverse, who never found a thing the matter, who has no hoodoo, jinx or curse. But when some horny-handed sweeper, who's known hard luck, again, again, remarks, "The world could not be better," we lift our hats and say "Amen."

An Easy Way to Get Fat and Be Strong

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on dragging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

There is a preparation known to reliable druggists almost everywhere which seemingly embodies the missing elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This modern treatment is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through regenerative, re-constructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to the starved, broken-down cells and tissues of your body. You can readily picture what result this amazing transformation should produce with increased weight the cheeks fill out, hollows about neck, shoulders and bust disappear and from 10 to 20 pounds for solid, healthy flesh is added to the body. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. Evans Drug Co., W. A. Erman, 23 N. Third Street and other leading druggists of this vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

NOTE:—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder, and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired.

RARE FIRST AID IN TIMES OF TROUBLE

Nerv-Worth Finds Permanent Place in Great Many Medicine Chests.

In many of the written endorsements of Nerv-Worth statements are made to this effect: "I shall always keep a bottle of the remedy on hand so as to have it ready for use in the family."

The reason is not far to seek. Take cases of indigestion. Nerv-Worth has overcome this ailment in thousands of cases, yet we all know how often indigestion creeps back for a day or so after some indiscretion in eating or after some period of unusual nervous depression following grief or anxiety. Now for such emergencies as this or for any emergency brought on by any of the various nervous disorders Nerv-Worth is the one source of strength and rescue. It ought to be kept in the medicine chest as camphor and other staples are. It is so kept by a growing number of grateful Nerv-Worth users.

Druggist T. J. Evans will hand your dollar back if Nerv-Worth doesn't help you.

THRILLS CROWD BY SCALING FACE OF THE NEWARK TRUST BUILDING.

Climbs Story by Story to Top, Over Cornice to Dizzy Top of the Flagstaff.

Satanet, the Arizona dare devil, climbed from the pavement to the top of the Trust building Tuesday evening at 4:45 o'clock in the presence of a crowd estimated at being 5000 and 6000 people. All traffic was blocked in the public square and it required the services of Chief James Sheridan and a squad of policemen to handle the big crowd and get the automobiles started after the exhibition was over.

Satanet started in to climb at the northeast corner of the ten-story bank building and he walked up the first story just as easily as a person would a flight of stairs. Ram was threatening, in fact it was misting at that time, and when the daring climber reached the ledge above the bank windows he announced that he would climb just as far as he could until prevented by the rain, as it was too dangerous a proposition to attempt to scale the building should it become wet.

The climber then proceeded to go up story after story, catching on the window ledges with his fingers and pulling himself up. Some of the windows had awnings and the dare devil brought them into requisition as he went along. As he reached each story he would call back to the crowd and kept up a line of talk until he reached the top. Upon reaching the last window, he grasped a rope which had been made fast to the cornice and climbed over the cornice onto the roof of the tall building and then "shinned" up the flag pole. By that time it was pouring down rain but the crowd below re-

It has often been declared that the sound of running water has the effect of lulling one to sleep, but in India the mothers do much further than this and make their babies sleep by letting a small stream of water flow directly on their little heads.

Such means seem almost incredible, and one might think colds and other ailments would result that would kill the babies, but apparently this novel liquid lullaby has no harmful effects upon the native infants, and they lie sleeping for hours with a stream of water flowing directly upon the top of their heads.

This is done by the native mothers in the vicinity of Simla. There the women do a great deal of field work and must leave their babies alone. Few of the women can afford caretakers, and so they resort to what they consider the next best thing.

SOCIAL SESSION IS ENJOYED BY THE ELK LODGE

A social session of the Elks occurred last evening following the regular meeting of the order. A delightful and appetizing menu was prepared and served by Stewards Billy and Johnny Hoal. It consisted of many good things that would tempt the appetite of even the most voracious of dyspeptics. Ten tables were used and they were loaded with plates of good things.

During the luncheon an orchestra furnished a fine program of all the latest selections. The music was enjoyed by every one and it consisted of the classical as well as popular airs. As the court house clock tolled off the hour of eleven, so dear to all Elkdom, Exalted Ruler James R. Cooper arose and called upon Col. William Bland of Galton Lodge, to give the eleven o'clock toast. Col. Bland responded with beautiful sentiments toasting the present brothers. The assemblage broke up after singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Every Day Etiquette

"If, while I am making a call, the hostess rises to greet another caller, should I rise too?" inquired Florence.

"It is not customary to do so. This is doubtless due to a wish not to intrude oneself upon the notice of the new arrival until the hostess shall have presented her," said her mother.

In Milady's Boudoir

By Gwen Sears

A shapely forehead with the skin smooth, fine in texture, and unmarred by furrows or other blemishes, not only imparts refinement and intelligence to the expression of the face, but a certain nobility as well. The most common blemish of the forehead is wrinkles. These in many cases are encouraged by facial gymnastics, showing the features in weird contortions, expressive of passing emotions. Again the disposition and temperament have much to do with premature lining of the face. Further, poor eyesight and nervousness are contributory causes.

Until these difficulties are overcome, a woman cannot hope to eliminate the marks of age from her forehead. Calming herself, holding her nerves and her temper in check, will prove of great assistance to the woman desirous of banishing wrinkles. The general treatment for wrinkles will, to a great extent, assist in the elimination of other blemishes, rough, dry or tight skin, pimples or sun stains.

Pat dry and then rub the forehead firmly with the tips of the fingers of both hands, starting in the center and drawing them off to the temples. Repeat a half a dozen times to further stimulate the circulation. Now rub up and down, and then a circular motion should be made with the balls of the fingers, as they slide over the forehead. This you will observe, loosens the dermal tissues and makes the skin more elastic. In many cases it is dry and hard to move over the bones.

Now you are ready for the cream bath and for this a good cleansing cream is used. Thoroughly rub it into the pores and start the first movement. Place the index and middle fingers of one hand firmly on the forehead, holding the skin taut, then with the first finger of the other hand, massage up and down, going in the opposite way of the wrinkles. Repeat, going over the entire forehead and temples.

Then with the index finger of each hand at the top and base of the forehead, push the finger tips in the opposite direction, first up and then down, continuing in wavy parallels from temple to temple. This tends to press out the wrinkles. Renew the cream whenever necessary for the finger tips must glide easily over the skin.

The Quality Goes IN Before the Name Goes ON

PRICE should not be the main consideration in the selection of a piano or any other musical instrument. Unless the musical qualities are present, it is worth nothing.

A piano is selected for the home not because the price is low, but because of what you hope to secure from it, namely, music, pleasure, entertainment, refinement, and a musical education for the children. Cheap pianos give neither music nor enjoyment. Their disproportioned, poorly finished cases suggest anything but refinement, and their sluggishness of action and lack of tone not only discourage the pupil, but absolutely deprive him of the proper conceptions of music.

Crown Pianos

are essentially musical instruments. Their fine tone qualities cannot but produce good music. And this good music means endless hours of pleasure and entertainment for family and friends. The artistic designs and finely finished, beautifully marked woods suggest culture and refinement—the kind of piano you are proud to have in your home—that brings you prestige and their respect.

Beauty of tone, ease and responsiveness of action, give the child the proper conceptions of music.

Ear and fingers are trained perfectly from the start and the pupil is encouraged to master the greater difficulties of a musical education.

And the careful manner in which Crown Pianos are built, the selection of materials, skilled labor, sound ideas and high ideals, make them the lifetime kind.

And please remember the investment feature. A well made piano, like a well built house, lasts longer, gives greater service and enjoyment, and brings more cash when finally disposed of.

Do you want a piano of the lifetime kind?

Send for our booklets which explain piano value, also what to look for in the selection of an instrument for your home. These booklets contain real piano information, and guided by them you are sure to select a good piano.

They are FREE for the asking. Mail the coupon TODAY.

Giraffes and Telephone Wires.
At a recent meeting of the Institution of Electrical Engineers in London W. L. Prece told of the damage done to telephone systems in the tropics by animals. The giraffes in East Africa, he said, have not sense enough to duck their heads when they find a telephone or telegraph wire across their tracks, but push on and carry the wires and sometimes the poles with them. White ants eat the telegraph poles if they are of any wood but teak. He showed a telephone instrument that had been used as a hive by bees, which entered by the slot for the switch hook and formed inside a comb that was renewed as often as it was cleared away by the engineers. Spiders also destroy the insulation by spinning over the wires webs that when saturated by dew reduce the insulation resistance to a few ohms.

Ancient Iceland.
Iceland was founded A. D. 874 by men from Norway. In the words of John Fiske, "it was such a wholesale colonization of picked men as had not been seen since ancient Greek times and was not to be seen again until Winthrop sailed into Massachusetts bay. It was not long before the population of Iceland was 50,000. Their sheep and cattle flourished, hay crops were heavy, a lively trade—with fish, oil, butter and skins in exchange for meat and mail—was kept up with Norway, Denmark and the British Isles. Political freedom was unimpaired, justice was fairly well administered, naval superiority kept all foes at a distance, and under such conditions the growth of the new community in wealth and culture was surprisingly rapid."

ALHAMBRA WILL CONDUCT CONTEST TO DETERMINE HERO-INE OF PLAY

Every Scene in Picture Will Have Places in Newark for Background—Coupon Tomorrow.

Who will be Ruth?
Newark girls and women ask yourself this question and herewith become acquainted with the Alhambra great motion picture contest. Here is a chance for every girl and woman over sixteen years of age, who has never dreamed of herself as a great motion picture actress to make a start right here at home. This is your opportunity to be leading woman in a motion picture to be produced in Newark and to have Newark streets, homes, buildings and locations for its background.

This is the chance to take all of your family, friends and neighbors down to the Alhambra the week of Monday, October 4, and let them see you on the screen as the real heroine in a real drama; and the best of it is, that more than one girl will be honored, for if you cannot be made leading woman, there are ten other characters to be filled in the picture.

The leading woman in the Alhambra picture will be she who gets the greatest number of votes upon the coupons which will be printed daily in the Advocate from Thursday, September 9th to Wednesday, September 22 inclusive. You may make the campaign yourself or your friends may make it for you.

The first coupons will appear tomorrow.

Conditions of contest:
"Any young lady over sixteen is eligible."

Votes must be filled in on the coupons published in the Advocate.

Coupons will be published in the Advocate every day, beginning Thursday, Sept. 9 and ending Wednesday, Sept. 22.

All contestants must be deposited in the ballot box at the Alhambra or mailed to the Contest Manager, care of Alhambra before 10 p. m. on the night of Wednesday, Sept. 22.

Last day for entering contest, Saturday, September 18.

All contestants must be residents of Newark or reside within five miles of the city limits of Newark.

Anyone with professional, dramatic, or screen experience is NOT eligible.

The Alhambra photo-play will be made under the direction of expert Motion Picture Producers, of the McHenry Film Co., of Akron and Cleveland, Ohio. The work of producing the picture will start the day after the contest closes, Wednesday night.

The completed picture will be shown for one week, beginning Monday Oct. 4 at the Alhambra.

The men needed in the picture will be selected by the producers from among the young men of Newark. Everything about the picture will be absolutely local, all of the talent, locations and scenes will be purely Newark.

Those who want to be Ruth and the supporting company are urged to begin their campaign at once. See all your friends and have them watch for and cut out for you the first coupon which will appear on Thursday, September 9 of this week and then have them do the same on each succeeding day until the contest closes. Be careful to fill out the coupons properly and legibly then deposit them in the ballot box at the Alhambra or mail them to the Contest Manager. The votes will be counted each day and the standing of the contestants published the following day in the columns of the Advocate. Every day the paper will tell you how the contest progresses.

This is your opportunity; now is your chance to see yourself on the screen—to see yourself as others see you. To see yourself as offering you what may be a stepping stone to a wonderful career—should you have such ambition.

bitions. This is the time for successful girls to satisfy themselves whether they can act before a camera. No experience is necessary—the director who will take the picture will care for the details and tell you what to do.

Do not delay Newark girls and women—get out and begin to line up your friends to cut coupons for you as there will be lively competition for "Who Will be Ruth?" and the ten supporting characters. Eleven of you will be in the Alhambra's great photo-play and now the question is "Who Will be Ruth?"

The line to do is to get busy today. Line up your friends to vote for you. If you are too modest to do your own choosing, and you have a girl friend who you think would make a good motion picture actress, cut some coupons and vote for her. The moment you or your girl friend is in the race, others will see your names and begin helping you along. Who knows but that the successful contestant will have the opportunity to become prominent in the motion picture business, if you show good talent and have the proper camera pose? The chance offered to display your talent should not be overlooked, with this opportunity confronting you. Many girls who heretofore were in obscure positions are now making thousands of dollars by acting for the movies. Try and see what you can do, even though you haven't any professional ambitions.

The photo-play to be produced in Newark for the Alhambra by the McHenry Film Co., will be shown when completed at the Alhambra.

The will of Edward J. Thornwood, late of Liberty township, has been admitted to probate. Mary A. Thornwood and Bertha T. Rogers have been appointed executrices without bond.

Ordered Survey.
The commissioners yesterday viewed the J. R. Hughes ditch in Jersey township and approved the same. They have ordered the county engineer to make a survey of the same.

Appointed Executor.
Andrew S. Mitchell has been appointed executor of the last will, testament and codicil of John C. Smith, late of this city. Bond was given in the sum of $10,000.

Justice Jones' Court.
Charles Dover and Miss Alice Sturman were united in marriage last evening at 7:30 o'clock by Justice D. M. Jones, in his office in South Third street. The couple was unattended but a number of men in the rooms of the Licking County Democratic Club were invited to witness the ceremony and accepted the invitation. After Justice Jones had performed the function in his usual impressive manner those assembled congratulated the newly weds, who will make their home in this city, the groom being employed as a glass worker.

Admitted to Probate.
The will of Henry O. Norris has been admitted to probate and Edwin C. Wright has been appointed executor, but the amount of bond has not yet been fixed.

Certain Manufacturers

BEING fully informed on the condition of the basic factors which underlie and affect all trade were able during 1914 to contract for their raw materials practically at the bottom price of the year, and what will probably be the bottom price for two or three years. The experience of these men is conclusive evidence of the importance of keeping constantly posted on underlying conditions.

At regular reading of our monthly Report on Trade will enable any man, no matter how well informed, to keep better informed.

MAY INCREASE TEACHERS AT NEWARK HIGH

ENROLLMENT LARGER THAN EVER AND FORCE WILL BE INADEQUATE

School Board May Hold Special Meeting for This Purpose—Regular Meeting Tuesday Night.

ENROLLMENT SHOWS
NEWARK IS LARGER THAN ZANESVILLE.

For years it has been the boast of our neighbor, Zanesville, that it was the larger city, out in the school enrollment on Tuesday it would seem that they have fallen a bit below the standard, for the Zanesville high school enrollment showed but 541, while the enrollment at Newark High school on Tuesday morning was 676.

These figures are usually indicative of the resident population and it would seem we are outstepping the city on the Muskungum.

The board of education met last evening in the superintendent's room in the high school, W. C. Christian presiding. Other members present were Clerk James K. Dewey, Wm. E. Miller and S. W. Haight, Superintendent of Buildings and Supplies Frank Handley were also present.

After the reading of the minutes by Clerk Dewey the following bills were allowed and ordered paid: First National Bank, $25.50; Dixie Coal Co., $320.79; B. & O. freight, $20.55; Norris & Webb, lumber, $2.65; T. B. Mazy, brackets, $2.40; H. Burnett, hauling, $19.60; W. A. Rowles, chalk, $22.50; American Seating Co., desks, $586.20; Imperial Brush Co., $41.32; U. S. Chemical Co., $21; City Examiners for two examinations, $75; American Tribune, $3.24; Sprague Grocery Co., $36.80; Fleck & Neal, $13.30; Scott Paper Co., $24; Tucker Boiler Works, $6.55; Marietta Paint and Color Co., $4.35; Norris & Webb, $89.56; P. Smith Sons Co., $14.55; Harry Bailey, $204; Albert Meeker Co., sidewalk, $160; B. S. Burkham, $29.33; T. F. Anderson, carpenter work, $55.55; Ohio Light and Power Co., $8.80; Elliott Hardware Co., $75.66; C. V. Foster, labor, $31.20; Newark Electrical Co., $12.50; Crane Bliss Co., $57.37; J. J. Carroll, $14.75; F. D. Keyes, cement work, $317.88; Licking Laundry company, $2.58; Evans Supply Co., $52.79; play ground, $49.72.

Mr. Henry C. Cochran, representing the K. of P. orders in the city, next addressed the board and asked that the scholars be dismissed on the afternoon of Wednesday, Sept. 22, so that the scholars might participate in the dedication of the new Pythian castle in East Main street. The request was granted.

Sylvia Ruth Weakley addressed a communication to the board stating that she was 18 years old, was a divorced woman and the mother of a baby but that desired to enter high school to complete her education. The matter was referred to the city solicitor with a request to make a recommendation as to what should be done in the case.

Superintendent Wilson Hawkins reported that 676 pupils had enrolled in the high school and that it was the largest number ever enrolled. Last year there were but 605. The increase denotes that there has been a steady growth in population of the city. Superintendent Hawkins said that it might be necessary to call the board together in a special session to provide for an extra instructor. He also reported that Prof. O. C. Larson had turned into the play grounds fund the sum of $7.47, balance left in the treasury from the Fourth of July celebration. There being a teacher's vacancy in the Central school the superintendent nominated Miss Louise Africa for the position and the board approved the same.

Superintendent Hawkins next congratulated the board on the school work done this summer. The buildings have been overhauled, new furniture installed in a number of rooms, needed repairs made, and the buildings all made comfortable. They are all a model for cleanliness and present an improved appearance and the community ought to feel proud of the work which has been accomplished on the school buildings.

Superintendent of Buildings Frank Handel reported that he had sold old iron to the amount of $31 from the Central school and $50 from the old building in Fifth street when it was demolished, that altogether he had received the sum of $353.32 for material sold. It cost $90 to raze the building and $100 to haul away the rubbish. After paying for trimming trees at the various buildings Mr. Handel still had a neat sum left. Mr. Handel stated that repairs had been made on the roof and spouting of the Fourth street school but that next year a new roof will have to be laid. He also had complied with the requisition made by the close of school in June. He had cautioned all janitors about using water as meters have been installed in all buildings.

WATER SHORTAGE

Cincinnati, Sept. 8.—A forty-eight inch water feed main connecting the downtown district with Eden Park reservoir broke near Eggleston avenue, and Eighth street, early today, flooding many cellars and practically cutting off the water supply to the lower business section of the city.

Residents of the hill tops are the only persons who will not suffer a shortage of water as a result of the break.

MINE WORKERS IN CONVENTION AT WILKESBARRE

PRESIDENT OF ORGANIZATION POINTS OUT WHAT SHOULD BE SOUGHT

Recognition of Union, an Eight-Hour Day, Better Arbitration of Labor Disputes.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 8.—The securing by anthracite miners of complete recognition of the United Mine Workers of America, establishment of the eight-hour day, improvement of working conditions and a better method of adjusting disputes, were urged in a speech delivered before the tri-District Convention of the United Mine Workers of America, here, today, by John P. White president of the organization.

On April 1, 1914, the present agreement between the operators and miners, throughout the anthracite belt will expire. The convention was ordered for the purpose of formulating demands for the next agreement.

"A very serious duty," said Mr. White, "devolves upon each and every delegate to this convention, requiring your wise counsel and rare judgment. This is an exclusive wage convention and in canvassing the situation, we should proceed cautiously and approach these grave problems with calm deliberation. Large issues are involved which include the welfare of the anthracite coal workers, the anthracite coal industry and likewise the welfare of the public which always is a great and important factor in our wage adjustments."
